Agent Ferguson came in from Marshall vesterday with two negroes, one bound for the penitentiary, the other for the reforma-tory. He left the renitentiary candidate and proceeded to Gatesville. Nine men were sent out on the county road for vari-ous offenses. The two additions for vester-day were Jeff Jackson, colored, for assault, tileaded guilty and fined $25, the other was Newton Givens, white, pleaded guilty to stealing flour while driving the Novelty milk wagon, thed $25.

Got the Laugh on Em.

The police force are enjoying a joke in the expense of four of their colleagues. During the circus paralle the genius that impersonated the intexicated farmer relying a slanbly-looking mule to a twowheeler played for the coppers, and when in sight of one he would wheel in before one of the drivers in the parade, causing him to stop, and a war of words would cause, and the driver would appeal to the boys in uniform for assistance. At tarious points in the parade this play was made, and re-sulted in the "hor, e laugh," at the expense of the man with the clun. Officers Mike Langrove, Dick Kitts, John Rea and William Rushing were the victims of this joke, the latter officer classing the showman a considerable distance on horseback, running him into the big tert.

THE CITY'S FINANCES

The Questions to Be Discussed in the Star Chamber Session.

The announcement that the council was meet in executive session Friday evening created considerable talk upon the street. A GAZETTE reporter endeavored to interview all the aldermen and ascertain their views upon the subject, but when the reporter called at the business places of several they were absent, and for this reason an expression of the opinions of the entire council cannot be given

Meeting Alderman Drake of the Sixth ward the reporter asked:

What is new in city affairs?" "Nothing particularly, except that I think we are getting into deep water financially, and some stringent measures—should be adopted to lessen our expenses, thereby decreasing taxation. You will remember I offered several resolutions in the city council with this end in view, and I was sat down upon with rather a dull thud."
"What has become of those resolutions?"
"The one relative to the decrease of the city police force and sanitary force are smoldering in the hands of the committee. Of course I do not care to criticise the action of the committeemen, but I have expected ere this a report, but have been doomed to disappointment. I have predicted heretofore that if the city council persisted in their lavish expenditure of money we would have a receiver sitting in our city hall collecting our tays. our city hall collecting our taxes. I am now more thoroughly convinced than ever that such will be the case unless we can call a halt and at once.

What are the taxable values of the city of Fort Worth!" 'As near as can be ascertained. the taxa-"As near as can be ascertained, the taxable values of the city of Fort Worth are $24,000,000, and I may say, at this time, that this is certainly an extravagant estimate, but granting that $24,000,000 is the real value of the property within the city limits, it will take an enormous taxation levy to secure a liquidation of our obligations that secure a liquidation of our obligations that will become due between now and Decem-

I have made no provision for interest and sinking fund on the bonds that will in all probability be issue, I covering the new waterworks plant. The bond issue of the city is within $400,000 of her limit, and I do not think it would be wise or prudent for the city to reach that limit." "Why, are you opposed to public improve-

"No; sir, I am certainly not opposed to public and permanent improvements, but I look at the matter from a business stand-point. When times are hard the city must conduct herself just as an individual do under similar circumstances. Show me a successful business man, and I will point you to one that during the stringency in money matters not only economized at store, but also at his home. So it must be with us, and having this end in view, I think it would be beneficial to the city at this time to 'lop off' a number of the super eraries whose services we can dispense with without a detriment to the city. "Yes, I did make a motion to increase his salary from $75 to $100 per month, thinking that the laborer is worthy of his hire. If you will remember, however, I immediately introduced a resolution, which was passed, compelling Mr. Jackson to give his entire time and attention to city affairs. I acknowledged the error of my way in this particular by introducing a resolution dispensing with his services, which of course was ing with his services, which of course was not adopted." Adderman Montgomery was seen. He said the city of Fort Worth was in as good condition financially as any city in Texas. "The people," said he, "have got a wrong idea. This, too, is the result of listening to idea. This, too, is the result of listening to wild statements and not stopping to consider. Now, about the waterworks proposition. The council never proposed to expend $1,000,000 on this, nor the half of it. The proposition was to put in a plant to cost, I'll say, not to exceed $450,000—probably $100,000 less. It would take eighteen months at least to do this. The matters you wish to know about will be fully discussed at our meeting on Friday. matters yoù wish to know about will be fully discussed at our meeting on Friday night, and we will know just where we stand. The members of the council need to be posted on the city's financial condition, and this is the occasion for our Friday night meeting. I am in favor of adequate waterworks and fire-fighting facilities. We have not disposed of our bonds as we expected, but it will work out all right I am pected, but it will work out all right I am satisfied. However, as to the city's finan-cial condition, you can say for me there is no occasion for alasm. no occasion for alarm."

no occasion for alarm."

Alderman Tilier said: "I am of the opinion that the city should cut on its expenditures. We are a good deal like a man on a salary of $1000 a year living up to $1500. There are some places where expenditures can be reduced better than others. The city is undoubtedly paying now from 15 to 50 per cent more for things she wants to buy than would be charged if we were paying cash. As far as the waterworks is concerned I am in favor of it, for I believe it will be a fine thing for the city and aid greatly in its upbuilding. I believe in public greatly in its upbuilding. I believe in public improvements, for they are a great factor in building a city. I believe there are many officials, whose services are not absolutely essential to the city, that could be dispensed

Alderman Massie was next seen. Mr. Massie said he was not aware of the city being especially hard up. Not being on the finance committee, he could not state just innance committee, he could not state just how matters were, but was satisfied there was no cause for uneasiness. He understood the meeting for Friday was for the purpose of making every member of the council aquainted with the city's financial condition, but he did not infer from that that the city was hard up. He thought the proposed improvements in the waterworks system should be carried out, but would prefer not, to touch upon the other propose. prefer not to touch upon the other pro tions now. Now, there's a wrong idea prevailing about the council proposing to expend a million dollars on waterwork We do not, nor did not, propose to spend the half of it. The advertisement for bids was perhaps misleading to some extent. Another wrong idea prevails-the water idea proposed, if carried out, will not necessitate higher taxes.
